Norman Rockwell Museum Stockbridge, MA Monday, May 20, 2024

Norman Rockwell is surely the most famous American press illustrator in the world. Born in New York, 1894, and died in Massachusetts, 1978, he is rightly called the “storyteller” of America. Indeed, his works trace the history of the United States in the 20th century. Known for having produced hundreds of covers for The Saturday Evening Post magazine. Indeed, each of his illustrations was previously executed in the form of a painting. You will enjoy a guided tour followed by free time to view the exhibits and browse their gift shop. You may also enjoy the special exhibitions that highlight the artistry of leading illustrators, then and now.
